Retrain your Routine in 2016!

Introduction

- Make sure this Holiday Season ends in holiday cheer, not holiday clutter

Giving and Receiving Gifts

- Give gifts with a shelf life such as; food, flowers, concert tickets, spa days, or a museum pass
- Donate hand made gifts to a church rummage sale
- Keep what brings you happiness
- Determine how much you need to be comfortable
- Too much is not always a good thing
- Remember not all gifts are family heirlooms, so they can be released
- STOP holding on to gift receiving guilt

Getting 2016 off to an Organized Bang!

- Make your New Year's Resolution to take back control from the clutter in your home
 - Remove clothes which don't fit or flatter
 - Sort mail when it arrives
 - Wrap extra lights along a piece of cardboard or store in a zip-lock bag
- If you forgot you owned an item, then you can easily let it go
- Start small and work your way up
- Remember, the less you have the easier it is to showcase the items you truly love
- You already have what you need to get organized
- Map out a plan

Follow the Plan

- Start small with daily tasks (10 mins at a time)
- Set reminders on your calendar
- Keep a box in the home for bi-monthly donation items
- Set a date to host a dinner party, to keep you on task
- Reward yourself for small accomplishments (preferably with an item that has a shelf life, or an event to create a memory that will last a lifetime)
- Stop the junk mail by signing up @ www.Directmail.com/directory/mail_preference/
